Success Stories

U.S. Potatoes Get More Access to the Mexico Market: Following 20+ years of engagement, USDA agencies gained access to fresh U.S. potatoes beyond a 26-kilometer border-adjacent zone in Mexico. The industry expects exports to grow from $55 million in 2021 to as much as $200 million in 5 years.

India Lets go of Lentil Tariffs: In 2023, after intense talks with the United States, India agreed to remove retaliatory tariffs on U.S. lentils. U.S. exports of lentils to India reached $26.3 million in 2019, but declined due to the now-resolved trade dispute.
